Assisted at His First High Mass Since Ordination as Priest-Large Congregation at the Church-Sermon by Rev. M

F. McCauliffe, Vice President of St. Thomas' Seminary -Purse of Gold Presented to Young Priest at Wauregan

Relatives and many personal friends of Rev. Henry C. Coleman, ordained last Monday, at St. Joseph's cathedral, Hartford, were in the large congregation assisting at the first solemn high mass celebrated by the young Levite at 10.30 Sunday, in St. Patrick's lis parish church. His parents and other members of his family occupied the front pews in the center asile. As the solemenity of the feast of Corpus Christi was being celebrated, the vestments and altar hangings were white. The beautiful altars were simply adorned with spring flowers, chiefly in white.

The deacon of the mass was Rev. Dr. John Anderson, of St. Thomas's seminary, Hartford, the sub-deacon was Rev. Myles P. Galvin of St. Patrick's, the asistant priest was Rev. John H. Broderick, rector of the parish, the master of ceremonies was Mr. Driscoll and the censer bearer Mr. Murphy, both seminarians from St. Thomas', Hartford.

The organist and choir director, Frank L. Farrell had arranged a pleasing programme for the service, for the list comprising excerpts from several masses. At the Credo Mrs. Farrell sang the Et Incarnatus effectively. The offertory was DuBois' Ave Maris, interpreted by Miss Florence as an honor to his pupil, for Rev. Maurice F. McAuliffe, vice president of the seminary, delivered the sermon. Having read the epistle, I cor. XI-23-29 and gospel, John Vi-56-59, for the Sunday, he announced this text, II Gor.
